CONTENTS

Orthography vii
Abbreviations ix
Note on Informal Learning, Musical Notation, and Transcription xi
List of Music Examples xiii
List of Figures xvii
List of Maps and Tables xxi
Preface xxiii
Acknowledgments xxvii

Chapter 1. Sumatra's Performing Arts, Groups, and Subgroups 1

PART I. WEST SUMATRA AND RIAU 19
Chapter 2. Upstream Minangkabau: Music to Capture Tigers By 27
Chapter 3. The Minangkabau South Coast: Home of the Mermaid and the Earth Goddess 42
Chapter 4. Tabut: A Shi’a Ritual Transplanted from India to Minangkabau’s North Coast 74
Chapter 5. Four Sufi Muslim Genres in Minangkabau 97
Chapter 6. The Riau Indragiri Sultanate’s Nobat Ensemble and Its Suku Mamak Stalwarts 126

PART II. SOUTH SUMATRA AND BANGKA 141
Chapter 7. South Sumatra: “The Realm of Many Rivers” 145
Chapter 8. The Wartime Creation of “Gending Sriwijaya”: From Banned Song to South Sumatran Symbol 186
Chapter 9. The Island of Bangka 204

PART III. NORTH SUMATRA 217

Chapter 10. From Singkil to Natal: Sikambang, a Malay-Portuguese Song-Dance Genre 221

Chapter 11. The Mandailing Raja Tradition in Pakantan 251

PART IV. ACEH 285

Chapter 12. Changes in the Lament Dances in Aceh: Phô as a Symbol of Female Identity 293

Chapter 13. “Only If a Man Can Kill a Buffalo with One Blow Can He Play a Rapa’i Pasè”: The Frame Drum as a Symbol of Male Identity 316

Chapter 14. Connections across Sumatra 343

Appendixes

1. The Languages of Sumatra 373
2. Historical Studies of Sumatra and Ethnicity 375
3. Musical Studies of Sumatra 377
4. Tunings and Vocal Scales in South Sumatra 379
5. Gamelan in Sumatra 381
6. Audio Examples and Audiovisual Recordings on the Website 383

Notes 385
Glossary 421
Bibliography 433
Index 455