Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction:
The Strange Athletic Career of Jim Crow xiii

1. White Supremacy and American College Sports:
The Rise of the Gentleman’s Agreement, 1890–1929 1

2. “Fair Play” versus White Supremacy:
The Gentleman’s Agreement under Attack, 1929–45 27

3. “Massive Resistance” and the Fall of the Color Line,
   1945–65 55

4. Cracks in the Solid South:
   Texas Western College Abandons Jim Crow 90

5. Hold That (Mason-Dixon) Line:
   The Atlantic Coast Conference and Football 120

6. “Two at Home and Three on the Road”:
   The Atlantic Coast Conference and Basketball 150

7. The Eyes of Texas Are (Not) upon You:
   The Southwest Conference and Football 180

8. From Exclusion to Prominence:
   The Southeastern Conference and Basketball 215
9. The “Final Citadel of Segregation”:
The Southeastern Conference and Football 255

Conclusion: The Accomplishments and Limitations of Athletic Integration 293

Notes 305

Sources 355

Index 359

Illustrations follow page 54