Contents

Preface xi

PART I: Contemplating the Musics of the World

1. A Harmless Drudge: Reaching for the Dictionary 3
2. Combining Tones: On the Concept of Music 19

PART II: As Sounds and Structures

4. Inspiration and Perspiration: Creative Processes 49
5. A Nonuniversal Language: On the Musics of the World 63
6. The Fundamental Skill: Notation and Transcription 72
7. Contemplating Musical Repertories: A Sampling of Descriptive and Analytical Approaches 89
8. The Most Indefatigable Tourists of the World: Units of Musical Thought 108
9. Apples, Oranges, and a Model T: Comparison and Comparative Study 122
PART III: In the Field

10. Come Back and See Me Next Tuesday:
    Essentials of the Fieldwork Tradition  141

11. You Will Never Understand This Music:
    Insiders and Outsiders  157

12. Citadels of the Profession: Archives, Preservation, and the Study of Recordings  169

13. No One Plays It Like Me: Ordinary and
    Exceptional Musicians  188

14. You Call That Fieldwork? Redefining the “Field”  199

15. Who Owns This Music? The Host’s Perspective  211

PART IV: In Human Culture

16. Music and “That Complex Whole”:
    Studying Music in or as Culture  231

17. Writing the Meat-and-Potatoes Book:
    Musical Ethnography  248

18. “If Music Be the Food of Love . . .”: Uses and Functions  260

20. Traditions: Recorded, Printed, Written, Oral, Virtual  294

21. The Basic Unit of All Culture and Civilization:
    Signs, Symbols, and Meaning  302

22. The Whys of World Music: Determinants of Musical Style  319

PART V: In All of Its Varieties

23. The “Where” of World Music:
    Interpreting Geographic Distribution  331

24. Never Heard a Horse Sing: Taxonomies and Boundaries  345

25. The Creatures of Jubal: Instruments  364
26. How Do You Get to Carnegie Hall? Teaching and Learning  376
27. I’m a Stranger Here Myself: Women’s Music, Women in Music   390
28. Diversity and Difference: A Variety of Minorities  405

PART VI: From a Broad Perspective

31. Second Thoughts: Some Personal Disclosures  454
32. On the Shape of the Story: Perspectives on the History of Ideas and Practices  464
33. A Snapshot of the New Century: Notes on Ethnomusicology Today  481

References  491
Index  535