

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction: Work, Consumerism, and the City 1

1. Drama and the Rhythm of Work in the 1920s 19
 2. Consumption and Commitment: Rachel Crothers and the Flapper's Dilemma 39
 3. More than Rhythm: The Charleston 64
 4. The Inner Self of Martha Graham: Versions of Authenticity 86
 5. "Make Yourself for an American": Anzia Yeziarska's Public Sphere 111
 6. Urban Form versus Human Function in the 1920s: Lewis Mumford and John Dos Passos 135
- Conclusion: Geographies of Knowledge 155

Notes 163

Works Cited 177

Index 193