

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction 1

Riff, Remembrance, and Revision

1. Listening to What the Ear Demands: Langston Hughes on the (Jazz) Record 33
2. Jazz Prosody: The Gendered Contours of the Post-Soul Coltrane Poem 85

New Traditions, New Translations

3. Opening the Canary's Cage: Sex, Gender, and the Jazz Body 129
4. A Cave Canem Continuum or a Dark Room Renaissance? From Jazz Improvisation to Hip-Hop Stylization in Contemporary Black Poetry 167

Epilogue. "When the Muse Is Music":
Collaboration and Improvisation in Jazz Poetics 209

Notes 231

Works Cited 249

Index 273