

Contents

Preface vii

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction: As Texts Become Digital 1

Daniel Apollon, Claire Bélisle, and Philippe Régnier

PART I. HISTORY, CHALLENGES, AND EMERGING CONTEXTS

1. The Digital Turn in Textual Scholarship:
Historical and Typological Perspectives 35
Odd Einar Haugen and Daniel Apollon
2. Ongoing Challenges for Digital Critical Editions 58
Philippe Régnier
3. The Digital Fate of the Critical Apparatus 81
Daniel Apollon and Claire Bélisle
4. What Digital Remediation Does to Critical Editions and Reading Practices 114
Terje Hillesund and Claire Bélisle

PART II. TEXT TECHNOLOGIES

5. Markup Technology and Textual Scholarship 157
Claus Huitfeldt
6. Digital Critical Editing: Separating Encoding
from Presentation 179
Alois Pichler and Tone Merete Bruvik

PART III. NEW PRACTICES, NEW CONTENTS,
NEW POLICIES

7. The Making of an Edition: Three Crucial Dimensions 203
Odd Einar Haugen
 8. From Books to Collections: Critical Editions of Heterogeneous Documents 246
Sarah Mombert
 9. Toward a New Political Economy of Critical Editions 266
Philippe Régnier
- Bibliography, Online Sources, and Software Tools 297
- Contributors 331
- Index 335