

Contents

Preface ix

Acknowledgments xix

PART I THEORY

- 1 Anti-War? Notes on a Ghostly Concept 3
- 2 Ad Bellum Purificandum:
Giving Peace a Fighting Chance 31
- 3 The Rhetorical Equivalent of War:
William James, Kenneth Burke, Stephen Crane 57

PART II READINGS

- 4 An American Counter-Epic?
War and Peace in Joel Barlow's Columbiad 87
- 5 "Cain's Ring": Moby-Dick and the Narrative of Sacrifice 106
- 6 "Curious Anesthetics": Ellen La Motte
and the Wounds of the Great War 126
- 7 Waging War on the Sacred: William Faulkner's A Fable 146

8 War, Fiction, and Truth: Tim O'Brien's
"How to Tell a True War Story" 170

9 Beyond the Semantic Netherworld:
Literature and the Iraq War 190

Notes 225

Works Cited 243

Index 261