

Contents

Introduction: China, Crisis, and Communications	1
1. Driving Capitalism to Western China: IT and the Unwieldy Export-Processing Regime	14
2. Repurposing Telecoms for Capital: Networking and Inequality	35
3. Forging Broadband for the Commanding-Heights Economy: State-Business Relations in Networking	51
4. Making a Home-Base Strategy: 3G and 4G Mobile Communications and Industrial Policy	79
5. Recasting the Media System: Network Convergence and Digital TV	101
6. Building Network Nation: Domestic Thrusts and Global Impacts	123
Conclusion: Communications and China's Political Economy	147
Appendix	155
Notes	157
Index	211