

Contents

List of Illustrations vii

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction 1

1. North of Slavery: Brockport 9
2. “Completely Surrounded by Screens”: A Raced Identity 28
3. Creating Community in the Midwest: Chicago 50
4. Crossing the Border of Race: The Unitarians, the World’s Fair, and the Chicago Woman’s Club 69
5. A Distinctive Generation: “The Colored Woman’s Era” 93
6. The New Century: North and South Meet 119
7. A New Era: Duty, Responsibility, and Tension 150

Conclusion 173

Notes 177

Bibliography 215

Index 231