

Contents

Introduction: After bin Laden Susan Jeffords and Fahed Al-Sumait	vii
PART I. DEFINING POLITICAL ACTORS
1. Bin Laden's Ghost and the Epistemological Crises of Counterterrorism Richard Jackson	3
2. The Discursive Portrayals of Osama bin Laden Aditi Bhatia	20
3. The bin Laden Tapes Andrew Hill	35
PART II. COMPARING GLOBAL NEWS MEDIA
4. Words and War: Al Jazeera and Al Qaeda Courtney C. Radsch	55
5. Metaphorizing Terrorism: Al Qaeda in German and British Tabloids Alexander Spencer	73

6.	The Myth of the Terrorist as a Lover: Competing Regional Media Frames Noha Mellor	95
7.	Images of Our Dead Enemies: Visual Representations of bin Laden, Hussein, and el-Qaddafi Susan Moeller, Joanna Nurmis, and Saranaz Barforoush	112
PART III. ENGAGING POPULAR CULTURES
8.	Without Osama: Tere bin Laden and the Critique of the War on Terror Purnima Bose	143
9.	Obama bin Laden [sic]: How to Win the War on Terror #likeaboss Ryan Croken	161
10.	Congratulations! You Have Killed Osama bin Laden!! Simon Ferrari	183
11.	Muslims in America and the Post-9/11 Terrorism Debates: Media and Public Opinion Brigitte L. Nacos	211
	Epilogue. After bin Laden: Zero Dark Thirty Susan Jeffords and Fahed Al-Sumait	235
	Contributors	245
	Index	249