

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction	1
1 Black Women, Urban Labor, and New York's Informal Economy	23
2 Madame Queen of Policy: Stephanie St. Clair, Harlem's Numbers Racket, and Community Advocacy	54
3 Black Women Supernatural Consultants, Numbers Gambling, and Public Outcries against Supernaturalism	94
4 "I Have My Own Room on 139th Street": Black Women and the Urban Sex Economy	123
5 "Decent and God-Fearing Men and Women' Are Restricted to These Districts": Community Activism against Urban Vice and Informal Labor	167
Conclusion	201
Notes	209
Index	245