Contents

Acknowledgments vii

Introduction 1

1 Transnational Publicity, Gender-Based Violence, and Central American Women’s Asylum Cases 19

2 Fixing Bodies, Fashioning Subjects: Constructing Gender through Rhetorics of Freedom and Choice 39

3 Standing in Her Shoes: U.S. Asylum Policy for Chinese Opposing Population Control 63

4 The Rhetoric and Logic of One Sex, One Gender 83

5 The Reading Practices of Immigration Judges: Intersectional Invisibility and the Segregation of Gender and Sexuality 103

Conclusion 123

Notes 131

Index 163