

Contents

Introduction	1
1 Female Hamlets and Romeos: Cross-Dressing Actresses in Nineteenth-Century Theater	17
2 The First Generation of Performers, 1868–1880: Annie Hindle and Ella Wesner	27
3 Increasing Competition during the 1870s: Augusta Lamareaux and Blanche Selwyn	59
4 The Second Generation of Performers: Maggie Weston and Minnie Hall	76
5 Ella Wesner and English Male Impersonation	90
6 Changing Performance Contexts and Management Styles in the 1880s	112
7 Male Impersonation in the 1880s and 1890s: Annie Hindle and Ella Wesner	129
8 English Male Impersonation in America: Changing Aesthetics, Changing Performance Style	145
9 Male Impersonation in the New Century	169
Appendix	189
Notes	193
Bibliography	219
Index	235

Photographs follow pages 89 and 188