

Contents

Foreword by Guthrie P. Ramsey Jr. ix

Acknowledgments xvii

Sources xxi

Introduction i

PART I: SOUTHERN ROOTS

- 1 Family Ties 13
- 2 Little Rock: “The Negro Paradise” 20
- 3 The Pursuit of Education: Elementary and High School 32
- 4 The New England Conservatory of Music 40
- 5 Return to Little Rock 56
- 6 Clark University and Marriage 64

PART II: THE “DEAN” OF NEGRO COMPOSERS OF THE MIDWEST

- 7 VeeJay and the Black Metropolis 81
- 8 “My Soul’s Been Anchored in de Lord” 98
- 9 Black Satin Clothes at the Fair 104
- 10 Spirituals to Symphonies: A Century of Progress 115
- 11 The Symphony in E Minor 126

| | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 12 | O Sing a New Song | 146 |
| 13 | The Piano Concerto in One Movement | 158 |
| 14 | Performing Again | 169 |
| 15 | Professional Recognition: Reconciling Gender, Class, and Race | 179 |
| 16 | The WPA Years | 190 |
| 17 | The Chicago Renaissance | 201 |
| 18 | The Symphony No. 3 | 208 |
| 19 | Final Years: The Heart of a Woman | 219 |
| | Postscript | 237 |
| | Afterword by Carlene J. Brown | 239 |
| | Notes | 243 |
| | Selected Bibliography | 267 |
| | Discography | 277 |
| | For Further Reading | 283 |
| | Index | 285 |