

Contents

Acknowledgments .....	vii
Introduction .....	I
CHAPTER I
Lord Let Me Be an Instrument: The Artistry and Cultural Politics of Reverend James Cleveland .....	17
CHAPTER 2
A Special Kind of Witness: Andraé Crouch, the Growth of Contemporary Christian Music, and the Politics of Race .....	42
CHAPTER 3
Hold My Mule: Shirley Caesar and the Gospel of the New South .....	65
CHAPTER 4
A Wonderful Change: Walter Hawkins and the Love Alive Explosion .....	88
CHAPTER 5
Higher Plane: The Gospel According to Al Green .....	108
CHAPTER 6
The Only Thing Right Left in a Wrong World: The Clark Sisters, the Winans, Commissioned, and the Search for Cultural Authority in the 1980s .....	121

CHAPTER 7

If I Be Lifted: *Milton Brunson and the Thompson
Community Singers* . . . . . 145

CHAPTER 8

Through It All: Vanessa Bell Armstrong and the Perils of Crossover . . . . . 154

CHAPTER 9

Hold Up the Light: The Crossover Success of BeBe and CeCe Winans . . . . . 164

CHAPTER 10

Outside the County Line: The Southern Soul of John P. Kee . . . . . 177

CHAPTER 11

We Are the Drum: Take 6, the Sounds of Blackness, and the New Black Aesthetic . . . . . 188

EPILOGUE

Do You Want a Revolution? *Kirk Franklin,
Yolanda Adams, and the Beginning of a New Era
in Gospel Music* . . . . . 203

Notes . . . . . 215

Selected Bibliography . . . . . 235

Index . . . . . 247