Songs in Black and Lavender
Race, Sexual Politics, and Women’s Music
EILEEN M. HAYES
Foreword by Linda Tillery
“Written with candor and humor, Hayes’s study models a welcome, crucial, and decisive turn in scholarship on women’s music.” —Choice
Offers sage perspectives on black women’s involvement in the women’s music festival scene, the ramifications of their performances as drag kings in those environments, and the challenges and joys of a black lesbian retreat based on the feminist festival model.
248 pp. 6 x 9. 2010. Paper 978-0-252-07698-5. $27.00; E-book 978-0-252-09149-0. $19.95

Follow Your Heart
Moving with the Giants of Jazz, Swing, and Rhythm and Blues
JOE EVANS WITH CHRISTOPHER BROOKS
Forewords by Tavis Smiley and Bill McFarlin
“A funny, heartbreaking, and insightful account of living through the violence of Jim Crow segregation, shady business dealings, and the hazards of life on the road.” —Aaron Cohen, Associate Editor, DownBeat
“Jazz journeyman Joe Evans, now in his 90s, presents the story of the sideman, the unsung hero of the golden age of jazz, someone who could read music, learn new tunes quickly, take solos if necessary and swing all the time. . . . Thank you, Mr. Evans.” —The Washington Times

From Jim Crow to Jay-Z
Race, Rap, and the Performance of Masculinity
MILES WHITE
“Takes a critical look at the portrayal of racialized machismo in modern America . . . perfect for anyone who enjoys an intellectually stimulating and provocative read.” —The Root
“Invaluable . . . provides a clear example of how interdisciplinary approaches to African American music and culture can provide future scholars with the tools to examine the ever changing and diverse identities within the community.” —Black Grooves

Black Women and Music
More than the Blues
EDITED BY EILEEN M. HAYES AND LINDA F. WILLIAMS
Foreword by Ingrid Monson
“Valuable and lucid evidence for the fact that music making has historically been and continues to be an arena in which black American women explore and create identities that consider the mutually constitutive, embodied, and imagined categories of race, gender, class, generation, and sexuality.” —Women and Music
280 pp. 6 x 9. 2007. Paper 978-0-252-07426-4. $28.00

Ramblin’ on My Mind
New Perspectives on the Blues
EDITED BY DAVID EVANS
“(An) illuminating volume. . . . Recommended to all blues fans.” —Sing Out
“Like a program album wherein melodies and chords are carried from song to song, the authors in this collection pass themes from one essay to the next.” —Journal of Southern History
