NEW IN TRANSLATION
in the Lemann Institute for Brazilian Studies Series

BRAZIL AND THE DIALECTIC OF COLONIZATION

ALFREDO BOSI
Translated by Robert Patrick Newcomb

“The dialectical processes Bosi describes help one understand both the context and contours of the passage from premodern to modern—mechanisms that remain operative in countries that, like Brazil, experienced an extended colonial period of development. Recommended.”—Choice

322 pp. 6.125 x 9.25. 22 black & white photographs. 2015.
Funds for the publication of this translation were provided by the Lemann Institute for Brazilian Studies, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, and by the Ministerio da Cultura do Brasil / Fundação Biblioteca Nacional.

The Sanitation of Brazil
Nation, State, and Public Health, 1889–1930

GILBERTO HOCHMAN
Translated by Diane Grosklaus Whitty

Celebrated as a major work since its original publication, The Sanitation of Brazil traces how rural health and sanitation policies influenced the formation of Brazil’s national public health system. The book shows how disease and health were and are associated with nation-state building in Brazil.

232 pp. 6 x 9. 5 tables. 2016.
Funds for the publication of this translation were provided by the Lemann Institute for Brazilian Studies, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, and by the Ministerio da Cultura do Brasil / Fundação Biblioteca Nacional.

www.press.uiuinois.edu